

Kane District Sterling Scholars 2019

High school seniors have been recognized as Sterling Scholars since 1962 for their academic success, leadership, and citizenship; where they compete for scholarships at colleges and universities across the state. The names of the 2019 Sterling Scholar candidates for each school were recently released by the Deseret News in the 15 categories: Agriculture Science, Business & Marketing, Computer Technology, Dance, English & Literature, Family & consumer Science, General Scholarship, Instrumental Music, Mathematics, Science, Speech & Drama, Skilled & Technical Education, Visual Arts, Vocal Performance, and World Languages. I would like to congratulate the Sterling Scholar students from Kanab and Valley High who will compete April 4th at Southern Utah University. This year the Sterling Scholar awards will be streamed live over the internet, please check the school web pages for links to the broadcast.

Ben Dalton
Superintendent
Kane School District

Valley High School: From left: Orrin Wood, Business & Marketing; Rebekah Esplin, Visual Arts; Mackenzie Morgan, Family & Consumer Sciences; Kelsie Barrick, Music; Ashlynn Spencer, Agriculture Science; Logan Dean, Mathematics.

Kanab High School: From left: Lance Little, Skilled & Technical Sciences Education; Dustin Bistline, Visual Arts; Nellie Bowman, World Languages; Jamie Keller, General Scholarship; Ally Haycock, Mathematics; Maesen Clegg, English; Dylan Bistline, Science; Morgan Stewart, Business & Marketing; Emilie Oblad, Computer Technology; Alix Nokes, Speech/Drama.